

Newsletter copy – long version

Webinars: the closest thing to learning face-to-face

Do you prefer to learn face-to-face but finding it difficult during the pandemic? Then an online presentation could be a great way to learn for you. It's a lecture that you can stream in real time – and ask questions as you go.

The eSafety Commissioner (eSafety) offers free online presentations for older Australians to help you stay safer online and make the most of the web. They cover everything from how to set up your myGov account, online banking and making video calls. Our very experienced presenter, Greg, takes learners through each topic in simple steps – making seemingly complicated topics very understandable.

This is a fantastic way to try an online presentation and increase your digital skills at the same time, without paying a thing. It's all part of the Be Connected program, a joint initiative between eSafety, Department of Social Services and Good Things Foundation. The Be Connected website is a one-stop shop with more than 150 online courses made up of over 500 engaging learning activities.

What will you learn?

- New digital skills so you can use technology with confidence
- How to protect yourself online and use technology safely
- What opportunities the internet can provide – including the convenience of online banking and shopping, accessing government services and new ways to connect with others

Visit our website to see the full selection of online presentations and register

beconnected.esafety.gov.au/bookings

Newsletter copy – short version

Prefer to learn face-to-face but finding it difficult during the pandemic? Then an online presentation could be a great way to learn for you. It's a lecture you can stream online in real time – and ask questions as you go.

The eSafety Commissioner (eSafety) offers free online presentations to help you stay safer online and make the most of the web, as part of the Be Connected program. They cover everything from spotting scams to online banking and making video calls. Our very experienced presenter takes learners through each topic in simple steps – making seemingly complicated topics very understandable. See the full range of online presentations and register here.

beconnected.esafety.gov.au/bookings.